Dr. Michelle Rose
Pediatrics
Children's Hospital of Philadelphia

Michelle is currently in medical school at the Perelman School of Medicine. She is excited to begin residency in the Summer of 2023. Prior to her journey to medical school, Michelle attended Boston University where she pursued her undergraduate degree in Biomedical Engineering. While at BU, Michelle worked as an undergraduate research assistant in the Khalil Laboratory. Following her undergraduate degree, Michelle pursued a career in the BioTech industry at Beagle Biosciences in New York. Michelle is excited to share her experience from working at a startup and her journey to medical school!
